The Senators may thank their lucky stars that Pitcher Win Mercer's business wing was feeling like a three-year-old vesterday afternoon, for had the twirler pitched anything like an ordinary game

New York

Mr. Haskell, regarding the latter's eyesight, and for a mild pleasantry in this connection he is rudely ejected from the first contest.

the Athletics, under the chaperonage of Con McGillicuddy, would have jumped the town with four games to their credit. As it was, Mercer was in great shape for work, and pushed all sorts of shoots and curves and benders over the plate in such lightning like rapidity that the visiting ball-tossers were in a comatose condition during the period that he appeared in the

It was a really refreshing sight to see a Washington team take a commanding lead at the post and keep it until under the wire. It was a somewhat novel ex-perience and when the crowd had fully realized that here at last was a game chalked up to the credit of our fellows they broke forth in the wildest sort of enthusiasm and gave Mercer a royal re-ception. The popular pitcher gracefully acknowledged the cheering and cries to the effect that he was the real thing and the similar guff that a ball crowd hands out to its favorites, but as he clusion of the first game, he could not help but thinking of what the would have been had he lost the game. Mercer philosophically sizes up the base ball business like this: "You're a hero today and a dub tomorrow." Well, Mercer ought to know, if experience counts for aught; but he was most assuredly a herr yesterday

The game landed by the followers of the Manning banner was a well-played con-test. The only trouble with the visitors was that Mercer's box work was too much for their heaviest hitters. Winnie has a real cute way of propelling the sphere up to the home plate and causing it to take an clusive course when it gets to within a few feet of the batter. He used a change of pace and relied very little upon curves, although he would vary the monotony of his performance every once in a while by firing in a fast in-shoot just for the fun of watching some Philadelphia man side step the ball and puncture the beautiful outdoors. Lafole was the only Athletic batsman who had any great amount of sport with Mer-cer's delivery. The colonel slammed the ball over the fence on two separate occasions, greatly to the discomfiture of

Mr. Mercer. Colonel Lajoie advanced another peg in his effort to have the honor of demanding a court of enquiry by get-ting in a mix-up with Mr. Haskeil, who will be recalled by local patrons of the sport as the gentlemanly umpire who was an object of great interest to a small sized mob at the ball park one afternoon not so many moons ago. Mr. Haskeil is in our midst once more, but his behavior is much improved and he now has a new set of lamps which work ever so much better than the old ones he displayed dur-

The second game introduced one of Manager Manning's new players, First

Farrell continues to play second in the most approved style. He fields splendidly, and while his throwing arm is not in good shape at present, it will soon be all right, and the little fellow will not ask odds from anyone, so far as fielding is concerned.

The Athletes are playing about the

The Athletics are playing about the fastest game of any of the American League teams at present. Anyway, this is the report of the Senators. The Baltimore club will come over to the Capital Mohday, and see what they can do with Mr. Manning's young men. Major "Muggsy" McGraw has promised to be good.

Manager Manning returned from New York yesterday afternoon. He reports that Campbell, the fielder, who accepted terms to play in Washington contracted either a sudden attack of cold feet or heart failure, and, consequently, will not wear a local uniform.

Lave Cross comes pretty near to being the best third bagman the American League has disclosed this year. He stops seemingly safe drives with an ease and grace that are quite remarkable and at the bat he usually manages to bang out a couple of hits every game.

During the game he fielded all right, although when at the bat he showed a tendency to back away from the plate, instead of meeting the bail squarely, in the most approved slugging manner. It was something of a consolution that he did not strike out, even if he did not get a safe hit. Still that was not so much of a wonder, as his associates were able to secure only four bingles off. Pitcher Wiltse, a youth who continually chews gum during working hours. This Wiltse, by the way, proved to be something of a hitter as well as a twirler, as out of five chances he knocked out two doubles and a brace of triples—not so bad for a young chap who looked as if he would prove a taploca before he got settled down to carning his salary.  Gear was the very thing the Philadelphia gentlemen had been looking for. He permitted them to hit him safely twenty-two times, and there is no telling how many mure bases might have been secured if the weather had not been so warm and the exertion of tagging around the bases too much for the McGillienddylies to stand, in extenuation of Mr. Gear's performance, it should be explained that he imagined he was playing "one old cat." and that instead of a ball, he was forced to throw a bean bag. His work had no force he hind it throughout the exercises, and after the fifth act the entertainment was listless, so far as the Gear contribution was concerned.  In the first runs in the initial inning, when Waldron, Farrell, and Dungan were enabled to cross the home plate on Mike Grady's triple. Clingman and Mercer scored in the fourth, and in the following

AN EVEN BREAK AT BROOKLYN The Beanenters and the Champions

Take One Aplece. NEW YORK, Aug. 10.-The Brooklyns and Bostons broke even on a double-header at Washington Fark this after-noon in the presence of 11,000 spectators. In the first game Dinten was too much for the Brooklyns, while both Hughes and Kennedy were competatively easy for Boston. In the second the batting was light until the latter innings. A liner from Daiy's bat in the eighth struck Pit tinger in the head and he had to give way to Dineen. The Bostons hit Newton freely in the seventh, and as he was weakening the hits scattered. The second game was percepticly in the eighth Hanion took hir out and put in Donovan, who held the Bostons in hand immediately. When Dineen supplanted Pittinger the Cham-

WON THROUGH GOOD LUCK.

Fortune Favors the Philadelphia Team Against the Glants.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 10.—The Phil-lies won today's game from New York more through good luck than any good playing on their part. Their inside work was execrable, two of the vistors' double plays being the result of poor base-run-ing. In the field they were out-classed by the New Yerkers, but everything broke

The Best Game So Far in the Department League-A Whirlwind of Megaphonic Instructions and Innuendoes From the Spectators.

If the dusky patients at Freedman's Hos terday afternoon it was no fault of the eight or nine hundred baseball rooters who trudged out to the National ball park to witness the game between the Census team and the nine from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Armed with megahones and tin horns, and feeling as though they would like to test their lung power, the small army took their seats and awaited the umpire's signal to "play hall." From the time that signal was given until the end of the game there was no let-up of the howling, yelling, and stamping by the spectators, and had a thirteen-incher gone off in the locality of Seventh and Florida Avenue, at least nine hundred baseball cranks would have been none the wiser, for the report, if heard at all, would have been barely audible.

A light-haired, fair-complexioned lad surnamed Fuicher occupied the twirler's portion of the infield for the men who op-erate the tabulating machines, and his portion of the infield for the men who operate the rabulating machines, and his curves, drops, and shoots proved to be too liusive for seven men with green inkstains on their fingers. The business end of the engravers battery was in charge of "Shags" Thorpe, who also had a few strike-outs jotted down on the score card. The contest was the best that has been seen so far in the Department League, and had it not been for several costly errors made on both sides it would have been a fair demonstration of how the national game should be played. Even as it was, the fans had no kick to make, for it was close.

At the fant of the several costly errors made on both sides it would have been a fair demonstration of how the national game should be played. Even as it was, the fants had no kick to make, for it was close. fans had no kick to make, for it was close and exciting, and kept all, who were not standing, constantly on the anxious seat, Some of the spectators were even seen to gasp for breath when they saw the field-ing of the Census fellows. At the con-clusion of the game the Bureaultes' score column footed up to 5, while the statistical report of the Pirst Street clerks' run alley

Mr. Merriam's men were given the first turn at the bat, but they did not make an impression on the second sack, first corner being the limit of their base runners. The Southwest tribe were the first to mar the whitewash on the counting block in the initial round. The populationtakers got dangerously near the fourth base in the second. They had succeeded in getting three men on the cushlons, and were thinking that they had a walkover when the man who guards third for the Fourteenth Street men closed his grappling irons on a pop fly and tossed it over one of his mates, who put out for a little while at least the man who had been occupying third, completing a double play at that station. Things seemed to be commoment he had raked in another of the pop-up variety. This retired the side, and moment he had raked in another of the pop-up variety. This retired the side, and the Census men had not scored. The lexal number of batters came up to the plate in the next two innings, but no more scoring was indused in until the last of the fifth, when the certificate makers moved up another notch, making two for them.

The Census men did their first business in the scoring line in the sixth, when the last the plate in the scoring line in the sixth, when the leather white waddled across the finishing line. Barrows name appeared next on the score card, and he fambasted a hot one to third. A wild throw to first lost the sphere long enough for Runkle.

Several other First Street men plunked the pellet, but that was all. They did not swing hard enough to swar the horsehide without a score for Barrows, who proved to be the lucklest man of his team, owing to the fact that he conjured the first baseman until that worthy threw the leather to the bleachers, where it played hide and seek with the greenback makers. The score was tied by this performance, but it did not remain so very long, for the Bureauttes got a man around the circuit in their half of the sixth, setting them one ahead of their opponents.

Neither side got a man past second in the seventh, but in the eighth the men from Southwest got two acroes the rubber on long hits to left and centre field. The men who took the Twelfth Census by seventh but to left and centre field. The men who took t cuit in their half of the sixth, setting them one ahead of their opponents.

Neither side got a man, past second in the seventh, but in the eighth the men from Southwest got two across the rubber on long hits to left and centre field. The men who took the Twelfth Census were now three behind their opponents and they hoped to tie or better the Southwest men's score when they came in to take their ninth knock at the ball. They made a failure of it, however, for the first man up could do no more than chop three times at the sphere and retire to the bench. The next man hit a slow one to second baseman and was put out. The third man up popped up a fly to third and it was all over for the Census aggregation.

Central Labor Union at a meeting held at Harris Hall. Eighth and D Streets northwest. Thirty-eight persons became mombers of the new organization.

At the headquarters of the Central Labor Union last night it was stated that the paperhangers' new association, upon its organization, would be admitted into membership in the larger body.

It is understood that the Paperhangers' Assembly of the Knights of Labor objected to the formation of the new organization in this craft, and that the objection has taken a somewhat serious turn, in some quarters it was stated last night that the Knights of Labor paperhangers would seriously object when the association of paperhangers to be af-illated with the Central Labor Union was formed, but no difficulty was experienced.

MARGARET DOE CAPTURED.

The Silver Set Belonging to Peter. sen Also Recovered.

The police were informed last night of the arrest vesterday in New York City.

of Margaret Osborne, alias Doe, aged twenty-six years, who is wanted in this city on a charge of grand larceny. The woman is said to have robbed Charles

Petersen, a traveling salesman, of $150 in cash and a silver toilet set, worth about $60, while the couple were registered several days ago at an Avenue hotel. Detective Baur will go to New York this morning and bring the prisoner here.

According to his own story, Petersen came to Washington late Tuesday aftermoon from New York, accompanied by two strange women, who he says he met at the Hoffman House, New York, early the same day. Petersen states that he paid the railroad fare of the women here, and that he registered with Margaret Osborne, also known as Doe, at the local hotel as man and wife. The other woman also spent the night at the hotel, and occupied an adjoining room to that of Petersen and his companion.

Early Wednesday morning the woman whose identity is yet unknown hurriedly left the hotel, and returned to New York, leaving Petersen and the Osborne woman. After the woman's departure, Petersen claims to have fallen asleep, and says he did not awaken until after 19 o'clock. Then he discovered two things, that his companion had also disappeared and that he had been robbed. He lost no time in going to Headquarters, and reported the case to Captain Boardman and others on duty. A description of the two woman came tidings that Petersen's silver toilet set had been recovered. A warrant, which was sworn out by Petersen prior to his departure for New York, was placed in the hands of Detective Baur. Petersen is expected to come here within the anext few days, to appear against the prisoner.

NOT EASY TO ARREST CHONG.

A Laundryman Plies an Iron Poker Against a Policeman's Head. All was excitement near Ninth and H

Streets northwest last night, when Policeman Murphy undertook to arrest Lee receiman Murphy undertook to arrest Lee Chong, a Chinese laundryman, in his shop. Chong objected strenuously, and he used an iron poker on the head of the policeman with telling effect. So unruly did the Celestial become that Murphy used his club and struck the Chinaman over the head, inflicting an ugly scalp wound. Then Chong went to the Emergency Hospital in the First precinct patrol wagon.

The trouble came about shortly before 9 o'clock, when Murphy was toid that Chong had enticed several young girls into the rear room of his laundry at 727 Ninth Street northwest. Murphy went to the laundry and sought out the Chinaman, who claimed that the girls had called for their laundry. It appears that Chong answered questions with bad grace, and when Murphy started to enter the laundry to investigate for himself the Chinaman grabbed an iron poker and struck the policeman a blow on the head. Murphy then brought his club into play and felled the Chinaman, after a brief struggie. Meanwhile the girls disappeared from the rear of the laundry and their identity was not learned by the polics.

The yells of the Chinaman were heard for blocks, and quite a crowd gathered about the place. Somebody spread a report that a man had been killed, and Murphy and the Chinaman were surrounded in the laundry and followed to the patrol box by a curious throng. Murphy sent in a call for the wagon, and Chong was soon under treatment by the physicians at the hospital. Murphy was but slightly hurt and did not seek medical attention.

At the station Chong gave his age as twenty-nine years, and said he had lived in this city thirteen years. He lived two years in Chicago, he said, and more than a year he spert in California, when he first landed in this country. The Chinaman man will be arraigned tomorrow morning in the Police Court.

A RAILROAD COMPANY SUED.

Damages of $20,000 Asked for Personal Injuries. Suit was filed in the Supreme Court of he District yesterday by Catherine C. Roache, a minor, through Catherine E. Roache, against the Metropolitan Rall-road Company to recover £20,000 claimed as damages for personal injuries alleged to have been sustained by the minor. It is alleged by the plaintiff that on July 15 last she was a passen-ger aboard one of the cars of the defendant, going north on Fourteenth Street. When near H Street, it is alleged that part of the machinery of the car got beyond the control of the motorman and as a result sparks and flames came into the car at the front window near which she was sitting.

The motorman, it is declared deserted his pest and left the car, leaving the passengers, including the plaintiff, in great peril. Because of her fear, Miss Roache states, she attempted to leave the car and in so doing was thrown with great violence to the asphalt pavement. As the result of her fall she was seriously and permanently injured.

Miss Roache states that she was hart about her back, spine, and stomach. She is represented by Richard P. Evans as counsel.

VICTIMIZED A CASHIER. Flim-Flam Game Successfully

Worked in Georgetown. A film-flam worker operated in Georgeown last night and succeeded in obtaining $5 from the cashier at James O'Don-nell's drug store at Thirty-second and M Streets. The man entered the place and purchased a tollet article, the price of which was 10 cents. He tendered the cash-ier a $10 Treasury note. In making the change she gave him five $1 and two $2 change she gave him five $1 and two $2 bills. The man requested a $5 note for the five ones and this was given. Again he changed his mind as to the sort of currency he desired and pretending to return the entire amount he requested the return of his original $10 note and said he had 10 cents in change with which he would pay for his purchases. In making these exchanges he falled to return the $5 note and the fact was not discovered until he left. The police were furnished with his description, but have been unable to locate him.

NO EXPLANATION YET.

The Identity of Hartwell's Assailants Still a Mystery.

Despite their energetic work the police of the Eighth precinct have not as yet gained a clue toward establishing identity of the two highwaymen who it is identity of the two highwaymen who it is alleged made an assault upon De Witt Hartwell, a clerk in the Census Office, several nights ago in Mount Pleasant.

The two Parker boys, who were arrested Friday night by criter of Lieutenant Kenney on suspicion of being the guilty parties, were later released. Bicycle Policemen Evans and Barrett were still engaged lest night in making a search for the alleged assailants, but nothing of any importance has yet developed in the matter.
